Context

Emergency Management involves four phases:

1. Mitigation
2. Preparedness
3. Response
4. Recovery

An Emergency Response Plan is at the heart of the preparedness phase and is a valuable tool in the response and recovery phases.

State of Local Emergency

- When a municipality is satisfied that an emergency exists or may exist in all or any area of the municipality, it may declare a state of local emergency in respect of the municipality or the area of the municipality.
- Council approval is required to declare a state of local emergency.

Public Role in Preparedness

- Emergencies are best managed at the local level. As a result, municipalities have an important role to play.
- The public should also prepare for emergencies, which includes being able to take care of yourself and your family for the first 72 hours after an emergency.
